Author(s) : METCALF, C. L. ; FLINT, W. P.

Book : Destructive and useful insects. Their habits and control. 1962 pp.xii + 108

Abstract : This fourth edition of a standard text-book on economic entomology for the United States and southern Canada [cf. R.A.E., B 40 49, etc.] has been completely modernized and partly rewritten to bring the text up to date. Some rearrangement of chapters has permitted an integrated review of insect structure, function and life-history processes, the sections on classification, development and metamorphosis have been expanded, and recent information on life-histories and control practices has been included in the sections on individual pests, the number of which has been enlarged.

addition of species that have recently proved injurious. It is estimated that the amount of material presented has been increased by at least ten per cent.
