Author(s) : Leyhausen, P. ; Tonkin, B. A. \(Translator\)

Book : Translation from German into English. 1979 pp.xv + 340pp.

Abstract : To the real lover of domestic cats and Felidae in general, this book is a treasure-house of information. First published in German in 1956, this English edition is about twice as large and, although behaviour of the domestic cat remains the focus, a great deal of the book is given over to other species of the family. Both predatory and social behaviour are covered in detail. The author suggests that the common classification of the cat family is not perfect, and offers his own classification.

consideration. Some veterinary surgeons will be helped by reading the book. The greatest value is to zoologists and cat-lovers in general.
