Jekka's complete herb book.

Author(s) : McVicar, J.Book : Jekka's complete herb book. 1994 pp.256 pp. ref.25

Abstract : This book, intended as an organic guide to the cultivation of 335 culinary herbs, comprises 2 main sections. The first section, entitled the A-Z details information for each herb, including Latin and family name, vernacular name, natural habitat, related species, propagation, container growing, pests and diseases, yearly maintenance, and culinary, medicinal and other uses. Warnings of side effects and the toxicity of some plants are also presented. The second section contains information on cultivation, including the planning of herb gardens, methods of propagation and growing, pests and diseases, and general methods of pest and disease control, harvesting herbs, and a yearly calendar for the maintenance of herb gardens.

Europe. The preparation of herb oils, vinegars and preserves, over 200 culinary recipes, and the use of herbs as dye plants are also presented. There is a glossary of horticultural and medicinal terms, brief explanations of the use of Latin names, the importance of climate and the hardiness of herbs, and an index.
