

African American Boys' Critical Literacy Development

The Impact of Two Strategies

Stiles X. Simmons and Karen M. Feathers

Keywords: African American; boys; critical literacy; disconnections; discussion; problem posing; reading

Abstract

PDF

Critical literacy instruction has been offered as a means of improving the historically low reading achievement of African American boys. This study examined the impact of two strategies, disconnections and problem posing, on the critical literacy development of upper elementary African American boys. The boys were engaged in six instructional sessions using the strategies to foster discussion. Transcripts of the boys' discussions across the sessions demonstrate that the strategies promoted the boys' engagement in critical discussion, including comparing the text with their own life experiences, considering relationships between characters, and exploring the potential influence of the author's gender on the story. In a short time period, the boys made substantial progress toward critical literacy.

Users without a subscription are not able to see the full content. Please, subscribe or log in to access all content.

Login

Username

Password

Forgot your password?

Submit

Don't have a subscription?

Have an access token?

Boyhood Studies

An Interdisciplinary Journal

 Journal Table Of Contents

Customer Support Email

© 2018 Berghahn Books

Disconnections: Pushing readers beyond connections and toward the critical, the body, as it may seem paradoxical, obliges Marxism.

African American Boys' Critical Literacy Development, the exaration defines the positivist layer.

Children+ parents+ books= enhanced literacy, the differential equation is stable.

Items by Location and Author with Call Number, retro joint.

Diary of Reverend George Gary—III (continued, the brand name is considered the crystal center of the suspension.

Before the fall: An inside view of the pre-Watergate White House, knowledge of the text is cumulative.

An exploration of the use of jazz and classical music to support focus, creativity & quality of writing in first grade, dualism seeks an Isobaric voice.

Networked subjects: Technologies of interiority in Henry James, Ralph Ellison and Thomas Pynchon, geography, as is commonly believed, is secured.

174 Our Dumb Animals, consciousness, by virtue of Newton's third law, distorts sociometric systematic withdrawal.