Abstract How did the imperial logic underlying British and Indian film policy change with the British Empire's loss of the 1930s and 1940s responsive to and responsible for such shifts? Cinema at the End of Empire illuminates the period. Challenging the rubric of national cinemas that dominates film studies, Priya Jaikumar contends that political transformations in a declining British empire and a nascent Indian nation. As she demonstrates, eff and Indian responses to these initiatives altered the limits of colonial power in India.
