Author:	den Blanken, Willem

Keywords:	WIC, West India Company, Corporate Sovereignty, Isaac Coymans, Croeger, Danish Africa Company
Abstract:	In this thesis, the legal dimensions of the First Dutch West India Company are discussed on the basis of three case studies. As one of the world's first multinationals, the Company was granted public powers that are today regarded as prerogatives of the state. To what extent was the WIC a separate sovereign entity? What was its constitutional position within the Dutch Republic? And to what extent did Company practice accord with seventeenth century legal theory?
