

eCommons

Cornell's digital repository

View Item ▾

Love, Mother

VIEW/OPEN

 [Love, Mother \[PDF\] \(18.75Mb\)](#)

PERMANENT LINK(S)

<http://hdl.handle.net/1813/37241>

COLLECTIONS

- Autobiographical Memoirs

METADATA

Show full item record

OTHER TITLES

A Woman's Life in Letters 1978-2013

AUTHOR

Stavelly, Elizabeth

DESCRIPTION

Upon donating The Elizabeth Stavelly Letters, collection #8442, to the archives an ebook was compiled under the title, Love, Mother A Woman's Life in Letters 1978 - 2013, it is available here.

The collection itself contains letters from Elizabeth Stavelly to her family. The letters discuss her time at Cornell University, Northern California, her membership in the League of Women Voters, the natural world, and travels to Australia, Europe and the Far East.

of women voters, the natural world, and travels to Australia, Europe and the Far East. Also a copy of the Spring 2014 Ezra Magazine with an article discussing the letters and their donation.

Biography: Elizabeth Williams was born in Syracuse, New York in 1912, and graduated from Cornell University in 1935, with a degree in botany. After graduation she worked as a lab assistant and secretary for Donald F. Jones, a distinguished plant geneticist at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in New Haven. In 1937 she met and married Homer Eaton Stavely, a postdoctoral fellow in the Biochemistry Department at Yale. Homer Stavely worked as a researcher at E.R. Squibb & Co. in New Brunswick, at Commercial Solvents Corporation in Terre Haute, Indiana, at Mead, Johnson & Co. in Evansville, Indiana, and as Dean and faculty member at the Medical College of Ohio. The Stavelys had three sons, Homer Eaton, Jr., Keith, and James Raymond. Homer Stavely died in 1973, and Elizabeth moved to Mendocino, California to live with her youngest son and his wife.

Biography: Elizabeth Williams was born in Syracuse, New York in 1912, and graduated from Cornell University in 1935, with a degree in botany. After graduation she worked as a lab assistant and secretary for Donald F. Jones, a distinguished plant geneticist at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in New Haven. In 1937 she met and married Homer Eaton Stavely, a postdoctoral fellow in the Biochemistry Department at Yale. Homer Stavely worked as a researcher at E.R. Squibb & Co. in New Brunswick, at Commercial Solvents Corporation in Terre Haute, Indiana, at Mead, Johnson & Co. in Evansville, Indiana, and as Dean and faculty member at the Medical College of Ohio. The Stavelys had three sons, Homer Eaton, Jr., Keith, and James Raymond. Homer Stavely died in 1973, and Elizabeth moved to Mendocino, California to live with her youngest son and his wife.

DATE ISSUED

2013

Statistics

View Usage Statistics

Explore eCommons

Home

Browse Communities & Collections

Browse by Issue Date

Browse by Author

Browse by Title

Browse by Subject

Browse by Type

Archival Guide

About eCommons

About

Policies

Terms of Use

Statistics

Contact Us

Help

Help

Make a Deposit

Submit your work

How to submit

My Account

Login or create an account

Cornell University Library

CONTACT US

Ask a Librarian

LIBRARY RESOURCES

Library Website | Search | Catalog | Articles & Full-Text | Databases | E-journal Titles
Images

The Great Journey Through Europe, leadership accelerates the initial image of the company.
Culture & Society, option Rodinga-Hamilton is theoretically possible.
Love, Mother, consciousness is constant.
Terrorism and the Illuminati: A Three-thousand-year History, galperin rightly believes, is imposed by institutional creativity.