Book : Cancer incidence in five continents, Volume IX 2007 pp.896 pp.

Abstract : This volume presents cancer incidence data from 300 population registries and 60 countries (5 in Africa, 8 in South and Central America, 2 in Asia, 15 in Asia, 29 in Europe, and 4 in Oceania; some countries are present in more than one continent) during 1998-2002, an increase of 28.6% over the previous volume. The data presented are expanded on by 7 introductory chapters, reduced from 9 in the previous volume: introduction; techniques of registration; classification and coding; h groups; comparability and quality of data; processing of data; and age standard denominators. The map, registration area, cancer care facilities, registry structure methods, results interpretation, uses of the data, population source and methods rules used for each of the countries included are presented. Tables on age and cumulative incidence rates, age-standardized incidence rates by histology indices of data quality are provided.
