Organizational Mission Statement Guidelines Revisited

Edward L. Powers

University of North Carolina Pembroke

Keywords

Organizational Mission Statements, Organization Goals, Mission, Organizational Motto/Slogan

Abstract

This paper provides appropriate guidelines for writing organizational mission statements. A planning framework is presented as a reference point for seeing where a mission statement fits into the planning process. Examples are provided of guidelines typically recommended for use in writing a mission statement, and some samples of organization mission statements are presented in order to illuminate the variety of approaches used in practice. New guidelines for mission statement content are recommended.
