Abstract:

Artist The selection of point of view in picture making for children's book, apart from its positive effect for better transmission of painters, contexts and messages to children, has different sorts which with their recognition we can open new ways into children's world and from this ways we can develop their artistic quality. In this essay that has been done in descriptive-analytic method, types of points of view such as opposite, blending, limpid looking, up, down, far, near and rotation have been analyzed. Besides, the point of view of painter in Iran (group A) has been analyzed. However the point of view in picture making has different sorts in children in their paintings just focus on three types of them containing opposite, blending and rotation and therefore it is necessary to focus on children's views and his imaginary world from children's book painting. This essay has been prepared to gain access to these purposes.
