Description

Ann Radcliffe was one of the most famous authors of the late 18th and early 19th centuries, known as the author of The Mystical Machine, The Romance of the Forest, and The Romance of the Valley, among others. This volume brings together, for the first time, contemporary reviews, letters, and several new pieces. The volume is divided into two parts: the first part presents Radcliffe's work and the critical response to it, and the second part presents a chronologically arranged collection of chapters then present general critical response to her work, and a bibliography of selected critical response to her work.
